

Are you looking for ways to get your teachers, parents and students to think about day-to-day issues that involve teaching and learning? If you are, then read this book titled TEACHING TALES LEARNING TRAILS. This is a set of ten stories based largely on events that actually unfolded – ‘fictionalised fact’ – followed by rich discussions between groups of stakeholders, as they reflect on the questions raised by these stories.

Click here for a preview of the book.

Click here for Book Reviews.

“A highly enjoyable and stimulating book ... probably the only such book available with Indian experience.”

– Sharad Behar, Chief Secretary (retired), Govt of Madhya Pradesh

“So much thought and detailed consideration has gone into so many teachable moments and outcomes. In the second part of the book, the community interaction is social justice in action, as all voices are heard and given space.”

– Alison, Editor, Pademelon Press, Australia

“This is an unusual book – with snapshots of experiences of students, teachers and parents, in school, out of school and with themselves – that takes the reader on an enquiry into everyday issues of teaching, learning, schooling and more.”

– G Gautama, Journal of Krishnamurti Schools, January 2019

“The contribution of this book to the available tomes on education is unique.”

– Dr. S. Anandalakshmy, Learning Curve, December 2018 [Azim Premji University publication]

“This book has an amazing collection of stories! Most of the stories have been woven from true experiences and are beautifully written, interesting and insightful. Each story is unique, a masterpiece in itself, with an important takeaway for the reader.”

– Gururaj KS, Teacher Plus, November 2018

“It is a one-of-its-kind book, and you have crafted almost a new genre of educational writing.”

– Alok Mathur, Retired Teacher, Rishi Valley School, Krishnamurti Foundation India

Paperback (deliverable in India) Rs 399/- plus shipping extra

For Bulk orders avail of discount from thinkingteacher22@gmail.com

Kindle Edition (available anywhere) Rs 280/- ($4.04)

